Democracy is in decline globally. One reason for this is the erosion of the public sphere by a number of distinct but interrelated processes. This roundtable departs from the situation in Europe and Sweden to discuss the role of the media in democracy.

Participants:

- Nico Carpentier, Professor, Charles University, Prague
- Göran Svensson, Senior Lecturer, Uppsala University
- Johan Lindell, Associate Professor, Uppsala University
- Matilda Tudor, Researcher, Uppsala University

Moderator: Peter Jakobsson, Associate Professor, Uppsala University.
